What is Puppetations?
Puppetations is a variety showcase of international puppets, puppet performance styles and world music. Puppets styles vary from show to show but may include marionette, rod puppets, hand puppets and/or mouth puppets. The music selected gives the audience a taste of world rhythms and melodies they may have never encountered. Throughout the performance a theme of diversity and world travel provides continuity for a parade of cultures and puppets.

How long is the show?
Long version- Show runs approximately 40 minutes, including an introduction and closing. Pictures may be taken with the puppets at the end of the show and questions about the puppets will be answered. The actual show runs approximately 30minutes.

Short Version A or B Show runs approximately 15 minutes, including an introduction and closing. Pictures may be taken with the puppets at the end of the show and questions about the puppets will be answered. The actual show runs approximately 20minutes.

Custom version- Can work different lengths on this show.

Where do the puppets come from?
Terri Klingelhoefer has a growing collection of over 150 puppets. The puppets selected for Puppetations performances represent many countries and styles and are chosen to showcase the variety of puppets available. Sometimes Klingelhoefer also uses puppets she has made.

For what age group is this play appropriate?
The content of this play is intended for general audiences. Toddlers may have problems sitting the length of the show. Ages 5 and up will get the most from this performance.
